Anxiety, encouragement, and joy are demonstrated by Pep Club girls Peggy Ford, Ann Stephen, and Valynda Euton.

Dreaming of things to come, Donna Romberg exemplifies a pensive mood.

Apprehensive that it might spoil the evening's game, Larry Troutman watches hopefully for the rain to stop.

Faces

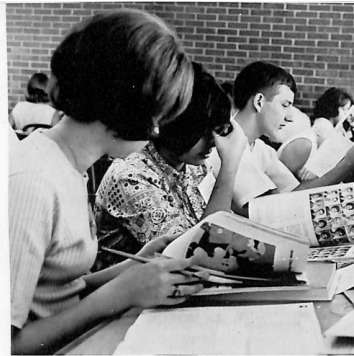

Are school life—
1,159 different faces . . .
Youthful faces,
Lost in the rush of parties,
Games, after-game dances . . .
Adult faces,
Pressured by term papers
And final exams . . .
Contemplative faces,
Distracted by thoughts
Of things to come;
Each a part of life's experience.

The happiness of being a senior is shown by Vicki Edgin.

After hours of studying, Carol Hallam finds it difficult to remain alert.

Attending a summer publication workshop at OU, Barbara Terry, Jennifer Eigbmy, and Val Pippi work diligently during a lab session.

Enjoying an afternoon at the pool, SHS students attempt a pyramid.

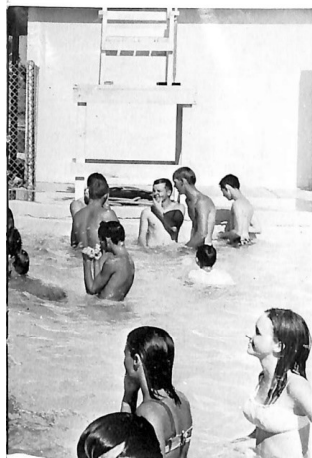

Camp

Summers

Are school life . . .
 The excitement
 Of vacation time,
 The satisfaction
 Of a summer job,
 The relaxation
 Of outdoor fun,
 A time for work,
 A time for play,
 A time of anticipation
 Of another school year.

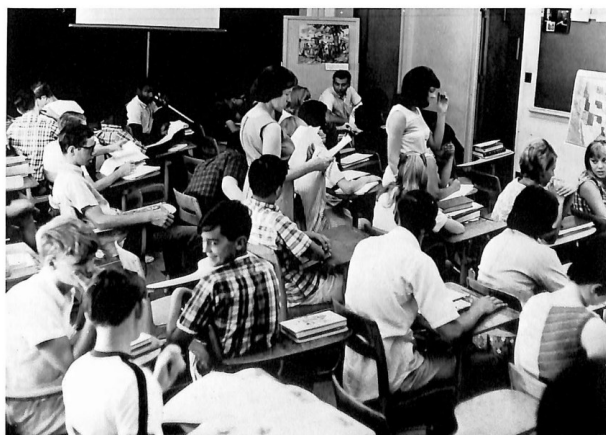

Peggy Ford, AFS student to Brazil, relates the details of her trip.

Chris Lillard, participating in a junior tournament, estimates the distance to the green.

Summer school students study stiff subjects in stifling heat.

Taking advantage of spring, art students leave the classroom to acquire a more life-like image of their subject.

Office girls, Sharon Warden, Glenna McGuire, and Kay Frampton, offer assistance to Larry Davis and Jackie Kilby.

Classes

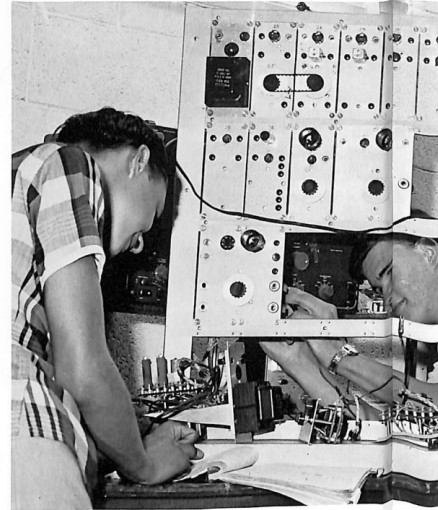

Are school life—
 Hours spent
 In a quest of knowledge,
 Agonizing hours
 For the clock watcher,
 Stimulating hours
 For the scholar . . .
 Each a search for truth.

Sophomore cooking student, Dovie Fleming, learns domestic skills through experience.

Mrs. Ruth Evans, newcomer to SHS, lends help in English to T. J. Butler.

Developing young minds for the vast, ever-changing field of electronics is the job of Mr. R. K. Branson.

Pointing out the procedure involved in solving a very intricate problem is Mr. J. D. Williamson, SHS physics teacher.

Teachers

Are school life—
 Devoting time,
 That we may benefit,
 From their experience;
 From their knowledge;
 Devoting talent,
 To enlighten a baffled generation,
 That we may be inspired
 To build a great tomorrow.

Grading papers after school, Miss Evelyn Martin shows that a teacher's day never ends.

Tension, contemplation, and pleasure—moods we all can understand are experienced by teachers such as Mr. R. J. Barnard.

Good Luck Jerry — don't kill yourself riding the bikes
Kent Neely

Sports

Are school life—
Tense excitement
As the clock ticks away
Precious seconds of an important game,
Pride in our athletes
And reverence for the Alma mater
They represent,
Spirit shown with shouts
Of "Wolves, kill!"
And solemn strains
Of "Hail, Shawnee High."

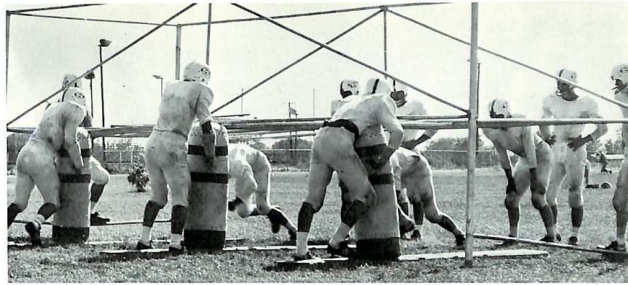

Kent Neely proudly exhibits the new Shawnee High School drum major uniform.

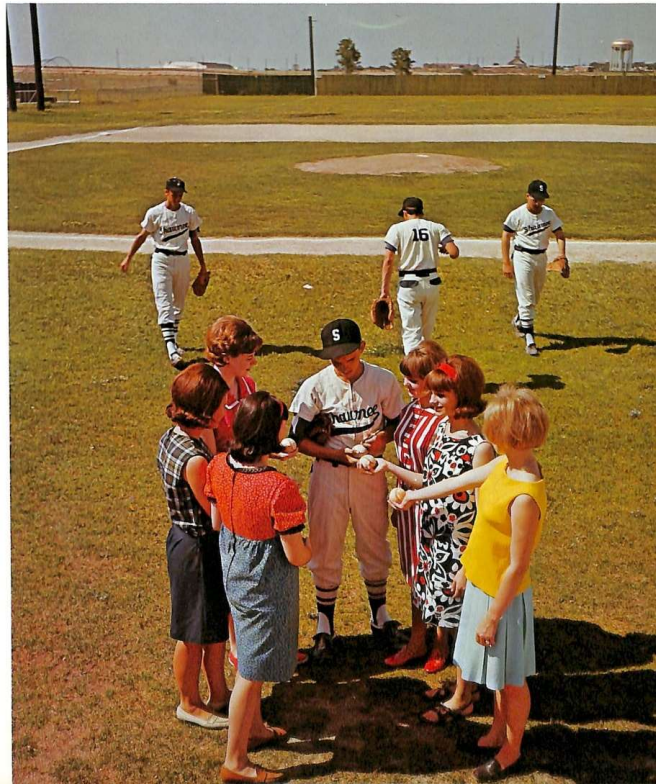

Participants in cross country prepare for an upcoming O.B.U. meet.

Shawnee High School football team dons pads at practice for a tough season.

Enthusiastic baseball fans swamp Phil Hastings before the season's first game.

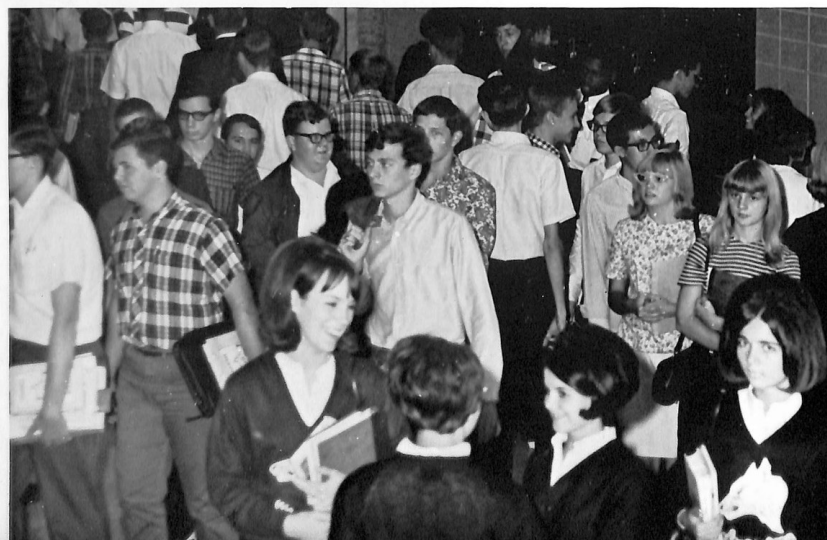

Janice Goodson and Val Pippis discover locker fallout, a common problem of the SHS student.

SHS couple, Kim Kendall and Rick Thompson, take a stroll around the campus.

Changing classes can be a trying experience, but the feeling of friendship is compensation enough.

Friendships

Are school life—
Friendships that create
The moments we will never forget,
After-game pizzas
And greetings shouted through the halls,
Helpful guidance
Gained from common experience.
The essence of our high school years
Are friendships old and new.
Some are lasting; some are short—
All are the zest of life.

SHS students Lisa Parker, Ann Stephen, Beth Hiner, and Debbie Stokes find that getting a coke is an excellent way to get acquainted.

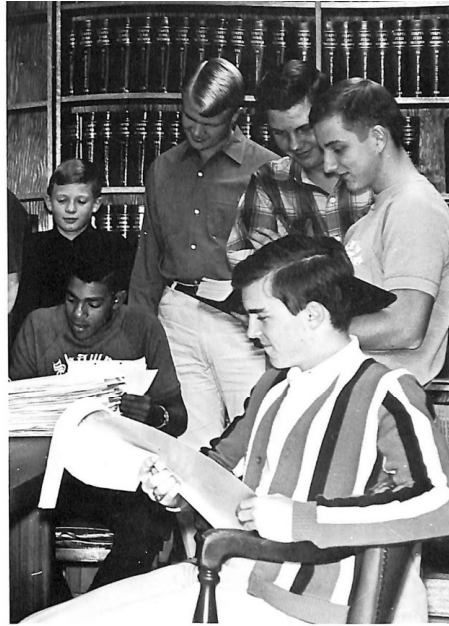

Kay Frampton, SHS Future Teacher, explains to Wilson first graders the use of the number man.

Preparing his livestock for judging, Bill White adds final touches to a prize winning cow.

Organizations

Are school life.
 Developing talents
 In fields that interest us;
 Working together to improve our skills;
 Launching rockets;
 Cheering the Wolves;
 Putting knowledge to work.
 In mock legislature;
 Helping the community
 In civic service projects;
 Sponsoring dances
 For fun and relaxation.

Thumbing through case files are Law Analysis members, Lloyd Harris, Ronnie Brown, Roger Henson, Val Pippi, and Steve Huitchens.

At the first outdoor pep assembly, the pep club yells enthusiastically as the football players look on.

The friendliness of Coach Williams inspires the team to win his approval.

Fulfilling one of his duties as guidance counselor, Mr. Williams talks with senior, Bill Montague.

Tension registers on the coach's face as he adjusts a player's pads during an important game.

Dedication

Involves hard work,
Sacrificing one's time
To benefit others,
To counsel students
In preparation for promising futures,
To perfect young athletes
Emphasizing good sportsmanship.
Dedication
Is devotion to the individual student,
Devotion such as that
Of Coach Bob Williams.

As a class sponsor, Coach Williams makes opening remarks at the matinee of the senior play.

Counselor Williams, who always has a friendly word, pauses to chat with Calderon sponsor, Mrs. LaHoma Williamson.

Members of the School Board are Eugene James, Cecil Johnson, Dr. Jim Tanner, Jack Wyrick, Dr. Bob McLaughlin pres., Roy Marler, secretary, Glen Davis, and Dr. Don Owen, superintendent.

Administration

Long hours
 Devoted to teaching,
 Preparing lectures,
 Grading essays ...
 Arriving early
 To attend staff meetings,
 To confer with troubled students,
 And to organize the day's work ...
 Joking to break class monotony,
 Easing tension,
 And proving teachers are human.

Dr. Don Owen, Shawnee school system's new superintendent, greets Caldron co-editors for an interview.

At the opening session of Shawnee faculty, Dr. Owen speaks on school policy.

Voicing dictation to secretary Margaret Dean, Dr. Owen winds up a busy day.

Owen named new

Many improvements have come to the Shawnee Public School System during this academic year. Dr. Don Owen is Shawnee's popular new superintendent. In an interview with Caldron co-editors, Dr. Owen commented on the new school policy, "The over-all change in policy will be added to or altered at times to suit the needs of the system." Dr. Owen is a member of the Rotary and Elks Club of Shawnee and active in First Baptist Church. He has one ten-year-old daughter who attends Will Rogers elementary school and two sons whose ages are five and three.

Keeping a record of season athletic ticket sales is one of Mr. Jerrell Chesney's duties as athletic director.

Superintendent

Whether it be promoting a charity drive or the Colt World Series or coaching basketball, Shawnee's "Man of the Year" and Shawnee High School's assistant principal and athletic director, Mr. Jerrell Chesney, is always there. In addition to heading Shawnee High School's athletic department, Mr. Chesney also deals with all disciplinary problems.

Mr. Alva Wells, SHS principal, spends most of his time either aiding in student activities or administering school business. Through his service in the Kiwanis Club and in the Wesley Methodist Church, he has distinguished himself as one of the leaders of our community.

Discussing a disciplinary problem, Mr. Wells and Mr. Chesney meet in the principal's office.

Shawnee High School principal, Mr. Alva Wells, makes final arrangements for an upcoming assembly.

Mrs. Marjorie Searle, Shawnee public school lunchroom coordinator, tabulates daily lunchroom reports.

Finding Mr. John Frazier in his office is unusual, since his duties as maintenance supervisor carry him throughout the city.

Personnel Is An

Some of the busiest people in the Shawnee school system are those who assist the superintendent. Mr. Flake Todd, assistant superintendent, is Dr. Owen's official right hand man. Supervision of the lunch program is the task of Mrs. Marjorie Searle. Completing eight portable classrooms and remodeling Harrison School into a new Board of Education building have been the major accomplishments of the maintenance department under the supervision of Mr. John Frazier.

Assisting the superintendent in the academic realm of school management, is the job of Mr. Flake Todd.

Typing a report, Mrs. Betty Kasterke fulfills one of the many secretarial duties.

In charge of clerical work is Mrs. Margaret Dean.

Asset to School Board Office

In the Board of Education office, as in any business office, smoothness and efficiency of office work depend largely upon the secretaries. The office of the superintendent is fortunate to have secretaries that are an asset. Greeting office visitors is the job of secretary, Mrs. Wayne Carlton. Also assisting in a secretarial capacity are Mrs. Gary Kasterke and Theresa Myers. Mrs. Tommy Dean doubles as secretary and clerk.

Scurrying from file to desk to complete records is not uncommon for secretary Theresa Myers.

Mrs. Joann Carlton makes an appointment for Dr. Owen.

As Mrs. Truelove sorts the office mail, Mrs. Davenport prepares to leave to assist in the Reading Lab.

Guidance counselor Mr. Bob Williams refers to a transcript while counseling a student.

Fulfilling all secretarial duties at T & I, Mrs. Hyde keeps in touch with the main building.

Office Staff Aids Students and Faculty

Aiding in the selection of a well-rounded curriculum is the job of Mrs. Ola Mae Clarke and Mr. Bob Williams, Shawnee High School counselors.

Keeping track of tardies and absences is only one of the many duties handled by the secretaries, Mrs. Jo Zurmehly, Mrs. Bertie Bumgarner, and Mrs. Pam Truelove. Mrs. Irene Hyde is secretary to T & I.

Conducting a senior conference, Mrs. Clarke talks with Larry Davis.

As the daily bulletins are printed, Mrs. Zurmehly talks with Mrs. Bumgarner.

Mr. William Malone; Art, Student Council advisor

Miss Judith Michener: Drama, Speech, Stage Craft, Forensics, Thespian sponsor, N. F. L. sponsor.

Mr. Harry Petree: Band, Pep Band sponsor

Fine Arts Polish S.H.S. Culture

Development of natural talents is the aim of the Fine Arts department. In art an effort is made to stimulate the students creativity, and weekly exhibits display the talent of pupils.

Students develop self-confidence and learn to express themselves in drama, speech, and forensics. History of the theatre is taught as a background for drama. In the fields of forensics and speech, SHS students have won numerous awards at state tournaments.

Techniques of music are taught in Orchestra, Chorus, and Band. The school band performs intricate routines at football games, and the Pep Band boosts spirits during all games. Chorus classes provide entertainment throughout the year. Besides giving concerts, the Orchestra enters district and state-wide contests.

Mr. Paul Boone: Orchestra
Mr. J. F. Johnson: Chorus

Perfecting an essential tool in life is the objective of the English department. This is accomplished through the study of grammar, composition, and literature. In grammar, which is fundamental, diagramming aids the student in understanding sentence structure. In perfecting the art of composition, many teachers require students to enter current contests. Studying the works of famous authors improves the student's individual style. In addition to these means of improvement, the reading lab was installed this year. The reading lab is a developmental reading course which provides training to improve the abilities of any level of reading.

Mrs. Mildred Fleming: English IV, Senior sponsor

Mrs. Joyce Pippis: Library Science, Library Club sponsor

Everyday Communication

Miss Evelyn Martin—Algebra II, Mathematical Analysis, Sophomore sponsor.

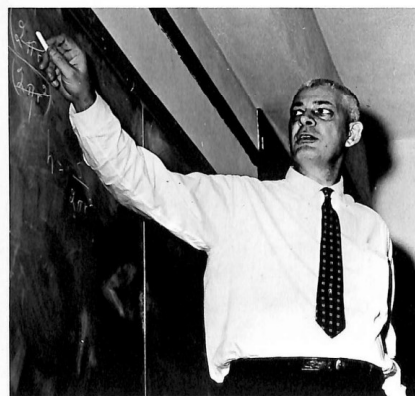

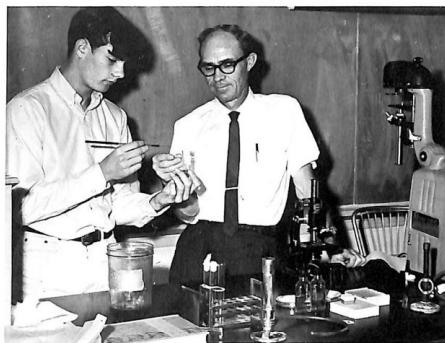

Mr. Gordon Biswell—Algebra I, Geometry, Junior sponsor.

Science and Math — Classes

Introducing interesting and often difficult mediums of study, the science and math departments offer a variety of courses. In science, natural and physical, reason and comprehension are taught. In biology, instructors employ microscopes and dissection kits to explore the world of nature. Juniors and Seniors discover valence, velocity, and vectors during classes in Physics and Chemistry. Perplexing problems in geometry, algebra, and math analysis sharpen the student's mind.

Mr. Charles Hoyle—Algebra I and II, Basic Physics and Chemistry.

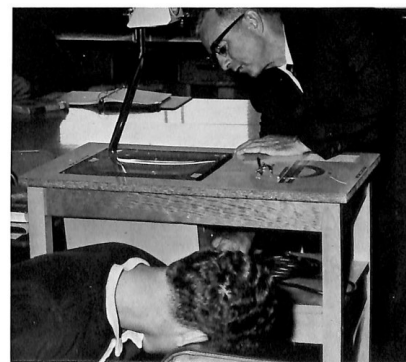

Mr. Melvin Whittington: Biology

Mr. Walker Butts: History III, Government

History Develops Comprehension

Mr. Jim Hutchenson: History I & II, assistant football coach

Mr. Gary Ellis: Government, History III, Oklahoma history, debate coach, junior sponsor.

Examining the past from the dawn of civilization to the present develops better citizens and creates a greater appreciation for the heritage of our nation. This is the objective of the SHS History Department.

World History presents to students culture and customs which have existed since history began. This course also introduces students to the world's people in order to further understanding. American History enables juniors to study the important events of the formation and development of our present-day democracy. Seniors in their history and government classes delve into the purposes and operations of governmental offices and procedures.

Mr. Robert Barnard: World history, government, senior sponsor.

of World Affairs

Mrs. Betty Evans: Basic English, world history, sophomore sponsor.

Language Introduces Students to Other Worlds

The SHS Language Department offers French, Spanish, and Latin. Also available this year is German. Language labs enable students to hear the language spoken, to express themselves fluently, and to drill themselves to perfection in pronunciation. Some culture and history of the countries are studied in more advanced classes.

Mrs. Diana Curson: French I & II, Penmanship & Spelling.

Miss Mary Trinkle: Spanish I, II & III, Honor Society sponsor, Spanish Club sponsor.

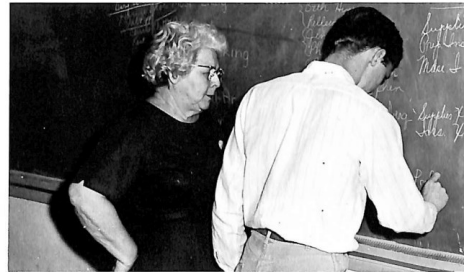

Mrs. Ruth Erslund: German I, Latin I & II.

Mrs. Iris Barbour: History I & II, Penmanship & Spelling.

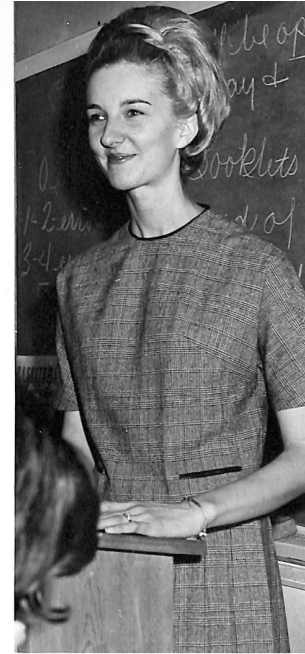

Mrs. Imogene Storm: Business Math, General Business, Consumer Economics.

Mrs. Allean Walker: Bookkeeping, Shorthand I & II, Notehand, Honor Society sponsor.

Mrs. Karen Holleran: Typing II.

Business Classes Provide Knowledge for the Future

Mrs. Kay Scruggs: Typing II, Consumer Economics, Shorthand I.

Preparing students adequately for their future is the immense task of the Business Department. Training is offered for immediate employment or continued study in college. The variety of available courses enables the students to be well acquainted with the business field. Typing, shorthand, notehand, bookkeeping, general business, and consumer economics aid the student in developing efficiency and understanding of the business world.

S.H.S. Builds Body as well as Mind

The increasing emphasis is placed on physical education is evident in the SHS fitness program. Archery, basketball, whiffleball, ping pong, volleyball, trampoline, tumbling, and dancing help girls stay trim and agile. The boys stay in shape with basketball, slaughterball, boxing, and calisthenics. The strenuous exercises develop strong, and often, sore muscles. This year the SHS boys' gym class was the first in the state to take the Marine fitness Test.

Mrs. Christine Reynolds: girls' physical education, girls' tennis team coach, pep club sponsor, cheerleader sponsor.

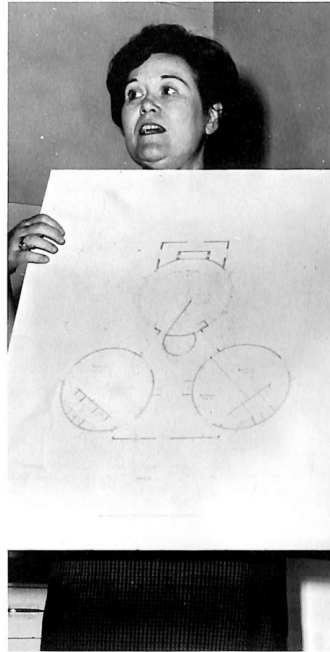

Mr. Frank Kennon: driver's education, athletics.

Mr. Joe Mastrogianni: boys' physical education, football, basketball, and baseball coach.

Home Economics Prepares Girls for Future

Mrs. Louise Tucker: Home Economics II, III & IV, Future Homemakers sponsor, family living.

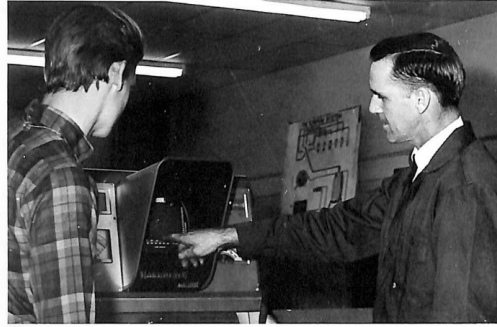

The Home Economics classes prepare students for their lives at home, in the business world, or in the educational field. The department offers instruction in making and choosing clothing. The teaching of food selection and preparation helps girls to become acquainted with household duties. Home management aids students in becoming more efficient. Family Living explains parents, family problems, and family relations.

Mrs. Thelma Carson: Home Economics II, Future Nurses sponsor.

Mr. R. K. Branson: Electronics, VICA sponsor.

Mr. John Farmer: Auto Mechanics

Trade and Industry Offers

Mr. Curtis Williams: Welding

Mr. J. C. Vester: Drafting, VICA sponsor.

Mr. James Bailey: Carpentry

Specialized Training

Mr. J. E. Yancey: Machine Shop

Mr. J. L. Boyer: Printing

*For those seeking careers in trade arts, Shawnee High offers training in varied fields. Beginners in drafting and electronics study the fundamentals of their fields, while more advanced students specialize in fields such as mapping, architecture, and basic television. School offices depend upon the printing department to supply their printed office materials. The department also prints the Wolves Journal and sport programs. In the welding and machine shops students become familiar with the tools of their prospective trades. As its annual project, the carpentry department is renovating Harrison annex to be used as a new administration building. The auto mechanics department learns the basic skills of auto repair and uses these skills to keep cars in top condition.*

Offering to students the opportunity to gain on-the-job training, the Distributive Education and Distributive Occupations Departments teach the basics of the business field. D.E. students specialize in selling and distribution while D.O. students learn a skill or trade in three areas of study—a direct study of the student's job, public relations, and on-the-job training.

Soil conditions, prevention of erosion, and other phases of a career in farming may be learned in the Vocational Agriculture Department.

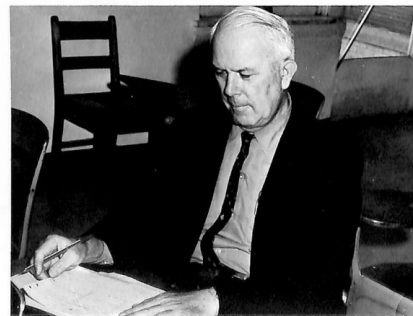

Mr. Otto Krausse: Vocational Agriculture, FFA sponsor.

Mr. Paul Milburn: Distributive Education, D.E. Club sponsor.

Occupational Classes

Mr. J. G. Hill: Diversified Occupations

The SHS cooks are Anna Annis, Ruby Nixon, Kathryn Shields, Cora Hayward, and Rosa Margerum.

Keeping the halls spotless is one of the many jobs of the SHS custodians Lee Walker, Ruby Spaugy, Les-tie Spaugy, Claude Maston, Jack Wadsack, and Marvin Smith. Mr. Cox, irreplaceable T and I custodian, has assumed the responsibilities of caring for the entire T and I building for many years.

Preparing a well-balanced hot lunch is the task under-taken daily by SHS cooks Anna Annis, Ruby Nixon, Kathryn Shields, Cora Hayward, and Rosa Margerum.

During an afternoon break, Mr. Cox makes change for T and I students.

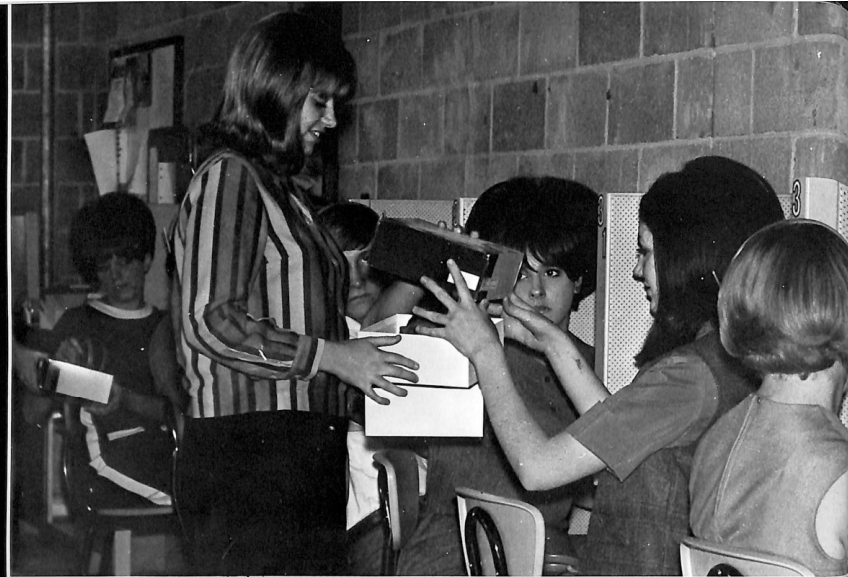

Provides on-the-job training

Custodian Claude Maston diligently works for a clean Shawnee High.

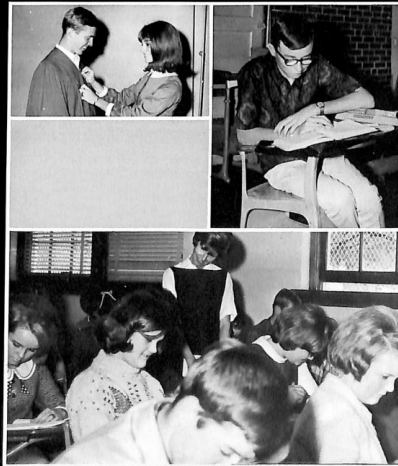

Polishing the cafeteria floor to a mirror-like finish is Mr. Lee W'alker, SHS custodian.

Classes

Setting up an experiment,
 Studying the reaction,
 Listening to tapes,
 Struggling with pronunciation,
 Studying during a quiet moment,
 Trying to make the grade,
 Reading through lecture notes,
 Attending assemblies,
 And missing a favorite class;
 Confusing for the sophomores,
 Laborious for the juniors,
 And "too long" for the seniors.

Seniors Star

"I wish you were not quite so deaf. I've had to ask you twice," says the Dook, Larry Davis, to Val Pippis, who portrayed Elliott Nash. Elbert Wells, as Louie, threatens Elliot's life.

Cast members Vicki Edgin and Val Pippis listen to Senior president, Robert Lupton, as he tells about the coming performance.

in The Gazebo

Portraying Mrs. Nash, Vicki Edgin presents her husband a unique surprise, the gazebo.

Selling tickets to the Hi-Y movie, are Rick Vandaveer, Freddy Turner, and Tom Jones.

During 1966-1967, Hi-Y proved itself an organization dedicated to community service and Christian activities. Hi-Y members showed their appreciation of teachers by holding the annual Apple Polishers Banquet. Early in the school year, the club held a rummage sale and all unused rummage was donated to Good Will Industries. Additional funds were raised with a Hi-Y sponsored movie.

The Hi-Y Sweetheart, Jan Black, was chosen at the annual Sweetheart Dance.

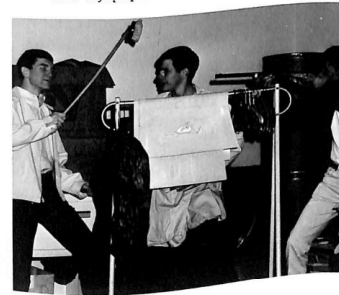

The club wound up the year by selling candy to meet its World Service pledge.

Community Services are

John Gilstrap, second semester president, keep things moving smoothly.

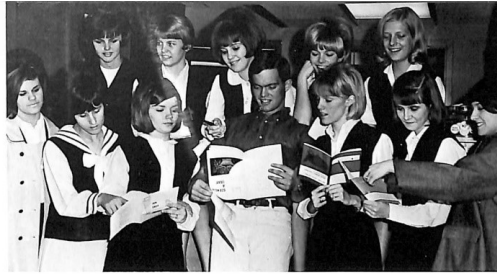

Hi-Y boys prepare for the annual rummage sale.

First semester Hi-Y officers are Bob Pourchot, Mike Adcock, Tom Walsh, Tom Nicholas, Joe Goodson, John Gilstrap, Jim Robertson, Harvie Roe, Tim Dickenson, Ann Stephen, 1966 Sweetheart.

First semester Tri-Hi-Y officers are Jan Black, Sandy Hayes, Candy Shirley, Charlene Burlie, Virginia Lazenby, Sally French, Sherry Taylor, Diane Burlie, Linda Baily, Beth Hiner, Jane Burt, and Randy Black, 1966 Snowman.

Goals of Y-Clubs

During this 1966-1967 school year, Tri-Hi-Y conducted a number of worthwhile activities. In November club members packed and sent 180 lbs. of tooth paste, tooth brushes, wash cloths, and soap to the people of Viet Nam. As a Christmas project, the girls staged a party for underprivileged children.

The selection of Randy Black as Snowman and the annual Tri-Hi-Y Style Show highlighted the year as major events.

To help hand out presents to underprivileged children was a reason for a Santa Claus visit.

Practicing their poses for the style show are Judy Frazier, Charlene Burlie, Paula Wilson, and Tootsie Young.

Beating the Christmas rush, Tri-Hi-Y girls pack boxes to be sent to Viet Nam.

These are the 1967 S.C. members. The officers are Rick Cornwell, president; Mike Cass, vice-president; Sandra Gauchat, secretary; and James Nelson, treasurer.

Working together, sophomores, juniors, and seniors prepare for S.H.S. royalty.

Teaching visiting A.F.S. students an Indian dance are Marvin Thurman and Rae Harjo.

Light Bulb Sale Supplements Council Funds

Sandra and Rick give bulbs to council members, Fred Turner, Candy Shirley, and Lisa Brockman

*Light bulb sales, coronations, exchange students, elections, and contests are a few of the many events sponsored by Student Council. In place of the annual Talent Show, S.C. also sponsored the play, Teahouse of the August Moon, in April.*

Gathering around the Christmas tree are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Nelson, Robert, Katherine, James, and Hitoshi.

An American favorite, the hot dog, captures Hitoshi's attention at a picnic in his honor.

Hitoshi Wins Hearts of All

Portraying the Aladdin's genii, Hitoshi stands on the float during football coronation.

To the Students and Teachers of SHS:

The life in Shawnee High School has been so great that I cannot believe that I must leave here. It was you, every teacher and student, who made me feel at home.

Going to the ball games and cheering and yelling for the Wolves was one of the most exciting, pleasant things through the year and was also the time when I was convinced I was living the life among you with the same idea. To study with you in the same room helped me understand more about America. It was also a good opportunity to see my country from outside of it.

If it is true that I brought better understanding between Japan and America, I shall be most grateful.

Come see me sometime!

均 (Hitoshi)

Club Sends Ambassadors to Mexico

Discussing their purchases from Monterrey, Mexico, are Val Pippis and Janet Eversole

Elfleda Bates—Spanish Queen

Val Pippis, Stan Oliver, and Phyllis Musick stack bottles from the pop bottle drive.

This year's Spanish Club officers are Jann Carter, recording sec.; Priscilla Warner, chaplain; Virginia Lazenby, vice-pres.; Janet Eversole, president; Rebecca Philpott, treas.; Fred Mitchell, reporter; and Elfleda Bates, roll sec.

To learn about the culture and customs of Spanish speaking countries has captured the attention of Spanish Club members. Visitors bring to the meetings films and reports of these countries. The club also sent two students to Monterrey, Mexico, during the summer. A Spanish fiesta is planned for this spring.

Wolverine

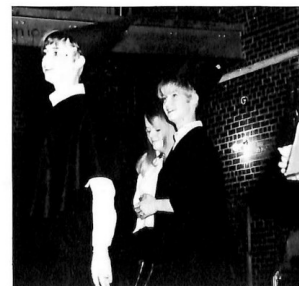

Western Day, Witches,

Heartily undertaking the task of promoting greater school spirit, the SHS Pep Club has enlisted numerous types of spirit boosters. Pep assembly skits featured witches brewing a spirit-filled concoction as well as a spirit meter to measure enthusiasm. Athletes were honored at a club sponsored breakfast and with miniature footballs and basketballs presented to seniors. Highlighting the year was a Western Day coordinated by Pep Club officers.

Wolves' supporters were inspired by a spirit meter to make it climb to the top.

Thespians is an organization for students wishing to further their dramatical interests. Activities of the club this year included presentation of a one-act play for the Will Rogers PTA, a fund-raising bake sale at the beginning of the year, and a trip to Oklahoma City in the spring to view a play at the Mommers Theater. Capping the year was the presentation of awards to the boy and girl who contributed the most to drama during their high school years.

Thespian officers this year were Beth Hiner, president; Kent Neely, vice-president; Jim Newberry, treasurer; and Martha Emery, point secretary.

Helping members in their study of the field of law is the purpose of Law Analysis. Preparing members for futures studies and helping them decide what area of law to study, Law Analysis has various activities through the year. The major focus of attention is the mock trial that members participate in. This allows them to gain some experience in how trials are conducted and helps them see what is involved in the law profession.

Preparing members for a career in medicine is the main objective of Medical Explorers. Working as orderlies at Mission Hill members have also learned the routine and duties of the hospital.

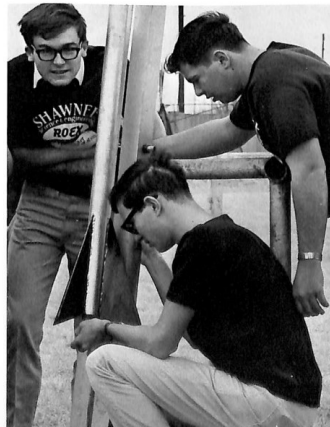

Preparing their cases are Mike Coker, attorney for the state, and Joe Goodson, defense attorney.

Continuing the study of rocketry and engineering, ROEX has been active this year. With membership almost doubled, the club has been able to have more and better launches. Launching a rocket from the State Fair grounds, ROEX won the President's award at the annual Scout-O-Rama. One of the major activities of the year was a bus trip to Houston to tour the NASA Manned Spacecraft Center. Work continued this year on the club designed metal rock which is the largest ROEX has built yet. Members can gain a large knowledge of the field of astronautics from the various club activities.

aids in promoting Athletic Events

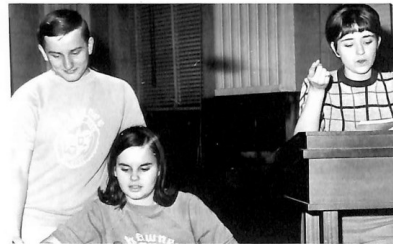

In an endeavor to master the fundamentals of state government, fifty five members of Youth and Government have had rigorous training in parliamentary and legislative procedure. In February the club attended a pre-legislature in preparation for the mock legislature. At this meeting Robert Lupton was elected to serve as Lt. Governor at legislature. In the spring representatives to the House and Senate, judiciary, and legislative staff were chosen.

Illustrate student interest in American economy.

Interest stimulated by shopping sprees

In the hustle and bustle of crowded streets,

Shopping for cosmetics, a new car, a new coat,

Hoarding "mad-money" for a special splurge,

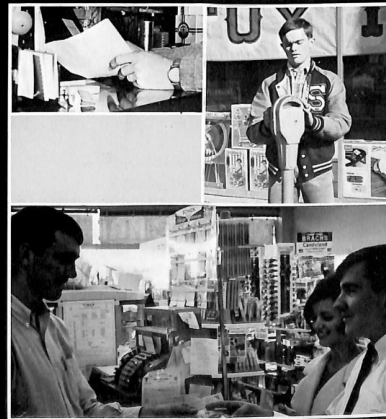

Serious saving for a college education,

Each purchase bringing us closer

To our day in the business world,

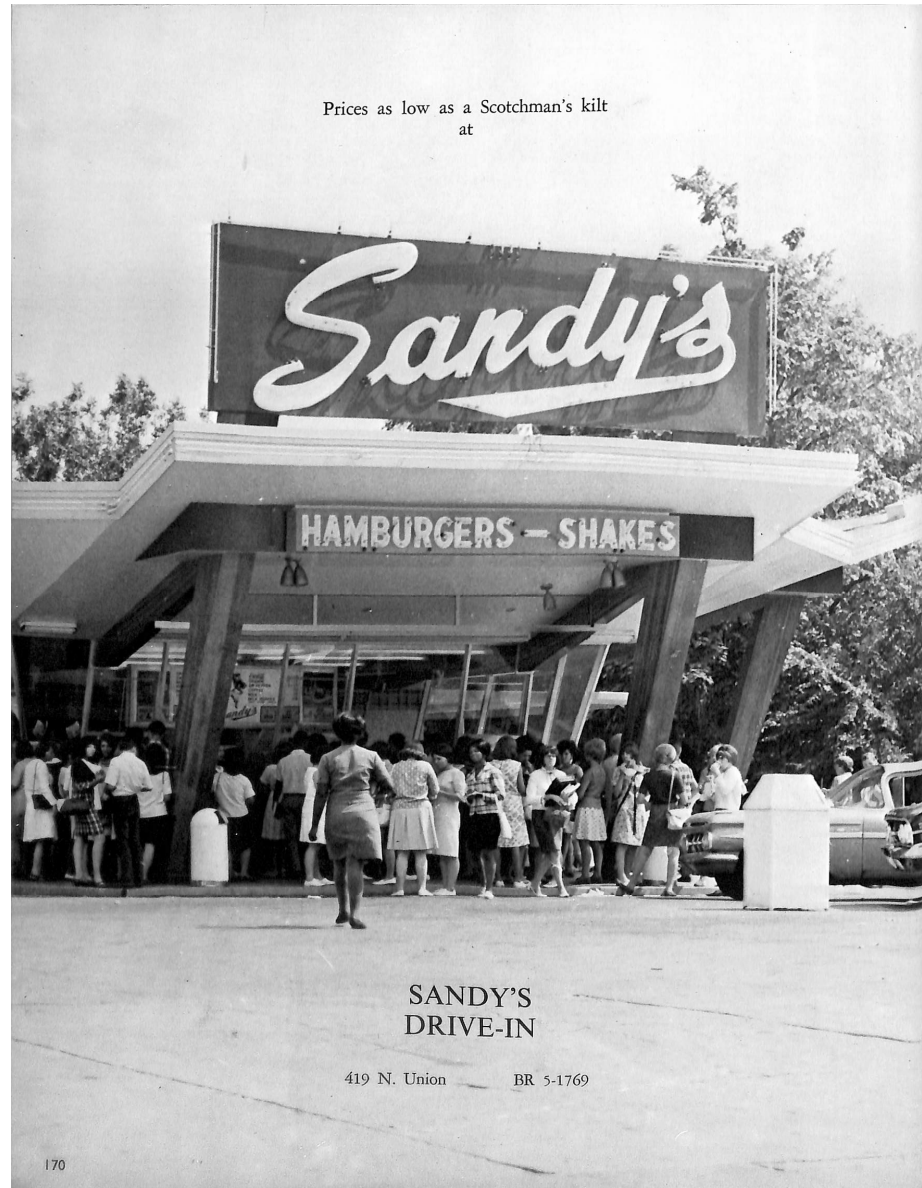

Preparing us for the world

Of commercialized living.

Graduation

A flurry of activities
In our last high school week;
A reception in which juniors
Give caricatures of senior friends;
A breakfast for graduates
As a last social hour together;
An assembly where recognition is bestowed
On meritous graduating seniors,
Then a mass of blue, surging toward a chapel.
The end,
And yet . . . the beginning.
